

The NC Aerospace Initiative connects a variety of enterprises in the aerospace sector that are working to promote the industry's growth. The NCAI is a coalition of aerospace interests that have come together to align these enterprises and to act as a clearinghouse for all things aerospace. This resource guide is a product of the NCAI initiative.

Workforce Development

Workforce Development Boards are locally controlled public-private partnerships that oversee workforce and training issues as they relate to employment and economic development in the area. Services are offered at local workforce offices across the state. Employers can take advantage of many free programs and services to:

- Recruit qualified, job-ready employees
- Help provide on-the-job training
- Negotiate customized training programs tailored to your needs

JobLink Career Centers offer businesses the opportunity to recruit qualified workers at one location. At the same time, centers provide employers with information about the labor market, workforce and hiring incentives. NCWorks Online can help your business connect with talented job seekers.
